

Our Education System: The Solutions: Solution #3: The United States Education Academy (Volume 3)

Our current teacher education system is insufficient. Teachers are unaware of how to implement the best practices for teaching and classroom management. The best and most experienced teachers tend to teach in schools that are already performing well and have money, while the lower-skilled, least experienced teachers are assigned to the most challenging work environments in dangerous, poor neighborhoods. Establishing a national teacher academy will help alleviate these problems. This booklet describes why its needed, and provides a guide for its legal, economic, moral, and practical establishment. David Atkinson earned a Master of Education from Harvard University. He will attend law school in the fall of 2016 and focus on education and poverty law.
